

Enjoy the Rewards of Facial Enhancement Through Acupuncture

*Need a little help to enhance your appearance and regain your youthful confidence,
but the idea of invasive surgery scares you away?*

A new minimally invasive procedure offered through Dr. Ernesto Uy, a Watson Clinic Internal Medicine physician and board-certified acupuncture specialist, might be the answer to your dreams. Utilizing state-of-the-art electrowave acupuncture therapy, you will enjoy the benefits of a facial revitalization procedure that lifts and improves the definition of the face – known to take years of stress off of your face – without the burden of needles or incisions!

How Does It Work?

Known as the 'Hanson Treatment,' Dr. Uy's technique combines ancient Chinese Acupuncture with computer age technology to tone and shape areas of the face. The physician uses electrowave acupuncture tools (called wands) to treat the muscles that lie beneath a person's facial tissue. By either easing muscle tensions or tightening excessively relaxed areas, Dr. Uy's patients benefit from smoother skin, and a younger, more refreshed appearance. The procedure involves a course of 12 ten-minute sessions followed by 20-minute sessions of relaxation.

Benefits of this non-surgical facelift include:

- Little, if any, pain with the procedure
- Minimal Risk
- No side effects typically experienced
- Subtle aesthetic outcome that may last for years with maintenance treatment
- Less expensive than other options, such as plastic surgery, chemical peels or collagen injections
