THE INFRASTRUCTURE OF WELL-BEING

HOW ARTS, CULTURE & COMMUNITY SPACES SHAPE HEALTH, CONNECTION AND QUALITY OF LIFE

RSVP NOW for this special event designed for leaders of local businesses, nonprofits, healthcare organizations, educational institutions and public agencies! Explore how investments in arts and culture strengthen workforce well-being, economic vitality, community connection, and long-term quality of life.

The program includes an informative panel discussion featuring many prominent community leaders, remarks on the growing Arts & Health movement, highlights from the region's newest economic impact research, and a special opening performance by a Lakeland Symphony Orchestra quartet.

SPEAKERS

- Mayor Sara Roberts McCarley – City of Lakeland
- Nate Dunham – Vice President of Core Wealth
- Pam Page – Deputy Director of the City of Lakeland Parks, Recreation, & Cultural Arts Department
- Alice Koehler – President & CEO Lakeland Volunteers in Medicine
- And other community leaders
- Moderated by Daryl Ward, Executive Director of Ashley Gibson Barnett Museum of Art

This program is part of the Polk Arts & Health Collaborative initiative and is made possible in part through generous grants from the Polk Arts and Cultural Alliance and the Mayor's Council on the Arts for the City of Lakeland.
